

Art Center Announces New Certificate Program

The Education Committee of the South Shore Art Center in Cohasset has announced the addition of a certificate program in drawing and painting as another important step forward in the Center's expansion of cultural services.

Beginning in classes this fall, students may choose to complete requirements for an Art Center Certificate that will represent successful completion of basic courses in drawing, painting, art anatomy, color and design and art appreciation plus elective courses in portrait, landscape, crafts and 3-D. Present students may count four terms of courses taken at South Shore

Art Center in the past three years toward their certificate; certificate work should be completed four years from the beginning date but students may petition for extension.

As in the past, all Center courses including courses credited through the Massachusetts College of Art Continuing Education Program can be taken individually without certificate or credit status.

The Center is offering an eight-week term of classes plus Special Workshops and Gallery Tours starting with the Fall Open House on Sunday, Sept. 16 at 4 p.m. with most classes beginning the week of Sept. 24.

The Center is a non-profit educational organization incorporated in 1958 for the purpose of maintaining facilities for conducting artists activities for the communities of the South Shore, offering classes in the arts and planning exhibitions, festivals and lectures to promote interest in the art field. Today the Center is housed in an historic building at 103 Ripley Road with a first floor devoted to gallery showings of professional artists' works and second floor used for studio and classroom space. It is a member of the Metropolitan Cultural Alliance of the Greater Boston Area and is affiliated with the Massachusetts College of Art Continuing Education program. The Center will celebrate its 25th year in the summer of 1980.

For information on the Schedule of Classes, telephone 383-9548 between noon and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Daniels Piano Students Young, Older Enthused

Students ranging from tiny tots to grandparents are invited to join the enthusiastic group of students of Priscilla D. Daniels, teacher of piano-forte.

Her individual instruction has attracted many students who have had exciting careers in music, while others play just for the pleasure it gives them.

Daniels is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, magna cum laude, with several years of teaching experience. She is a member and past president of Alpha Chi Omega, National sorority and Pi Kappa Lambda, honorary professional society. She has taught in Swampscott, Norwood and Lincoln, and is now teaching in the South Shore area, in her Beach Street home in Cohasset.

While encouraging talented students to compose and to perform, she strives to communicate a love and appreciation of the fine arts through the medium of the piano.
